

Inglewood sales — going, going, gone

CATTLE STIRRER: Yardman Walter Mackie shows off the simple invention he has come up with to help move cattle through the stockyard pens — a plastic bag tied to the end of his stick. Photos: PIP GUTHRIE

FOR SALE: Potential buyers study the stock in the pens at the final Inglewood sale last week.

THE BID'S HERE . . . Taranaki Farmers auctioneer Peter Kelly tries to squeeze another bid out of the Inglewood buyer's bench on Wednesday.

SALEYARDS VETERAN: Albert Larsen (left) has been buying stock at Inglewood sales for nearly 60 years . . . and might do so again if a new saleyard opens there.

DESTROY BUTTERCUP
WITHOUT DESTROYING YOUR BUDGET

ROT
VEN
Part #P

Suitable of encl

TERM
CRIM

LOW SMAL

DEVON I WAIWHA

G

SE
OF