

A NEW BUTCHERY.

Mr W. Cannon has been in occupation of his new butcher's shop in the Broadway Buildings for the past fortnight, and the establishment is now practically in full working order. The shop is new and up-to-date in every way and special attention has been paid to cleanliness. It is concrete throughout, and there is always a current of air passing through the premises. Gauze covered doors and ventilators are being put in and the whole of the premises are absolutely fly-proof. At the rear of the shop, room and in this there is to be observed behind a partition, is the small goods the same roominess and cleanliness as in the front. The latest machinery is being installed and everything necessary for carrying on an up-to-date butchery business is there. Mr Cannon has nothing old in the shop. Even the scales are of the latest type, and are covered in porcelain. The whole place is distinctly creditable to the proprietor and a tribute to his enterprise.
