

FOR many years.

The death occurred at his residence in Gilbert Street, New Plymouth, on Tuesday, of Mr. A. G. Catran, aged 74 years. The late Mr. Catran, who came to New Plymouth from the Thames district sixteen years ago, was in business as a stationer and bookseller in Devon Street up to about three years ago, when he sold out to Mr. Corrigall and he has since lived in retirement. He was of a very kindly disposition and had won the esteem and regard of a large number of friends whose sincere sympathy will be extended to his widow and family in their bereavement.
